Description

Fixed Blade Wilderness Hunting Knife.
A wonderful wilderness knife designed by the renowned English custom knife maker Roger Harrington. Roger is an experienced outdoorsman and knife maker who has taught Bushcraft and survival to civil and military customers for the last twenty years. The knife blade is made of K720 high carbon tool steel, the handle from 5000 year old bog oak dug from English soil. It has a rough texture and a very dark colour tone. The blade is easy to sharpen but it will tarnish if left wet and it must therefore be wiped after use and protected by oil or wax when put away for storage. The knife comes with a sturdy tanned leather sheath and is ideal as a good all-round knife for field use.
The blade is 9 cm long.
