Description

Equestrian Hunter By Albert Clark, Oil On Board.

A traditional-style equestrian portraiture oil painting depicting a dark chestnut horse standing in profile. The Albert Clark oil on board painting is in a maple frame with gold slip, signed bottom right-hand corner. The well-groomed horse is shown in a slightly formal pose, wearing a decorative halter with red and white accents, and its four legs have white socks. The background includes a tall stone or stucco wall, likely part of an estate or stable area, with a stone sphere ornament on top of a pillar. The setting is peaceful and rural, with a path leading off into the landscape on the right. Written on the backboard in pencil: 1905 Makley Albert Clark.

Frame size: 26 ½cm high by 32 ½cm wide.
