Description

BSA C11 250cc Motorcycle.

A 1946 BSA C11, 250cc single-cylinder ohv motorcycle manufactured by the British company BSA (Birmingham Small Arms Company). The C11 was developed before the Second World War from the sidevalve C10, it was launched in 1939 and continued to be developed into the 1950's. Tax and MOT exempt and comes with a newer V5C. The engine No. is original to the frame and the bike is in good condition, silver/grey in colour with a sprung seat and pillion saddle over the rear mud guard and is an easy starter. The C11 frame was improved in 1951 when BSA added plunger rear suspension and the actor Steve McQueen is known to have owned a 1951 BSA C11.
